

Plans, model presented for Regional Health Center

Floor plans and a scale model of the long-awaited Regional Health Center in Wilmington were presented on Monday at a luncheon meeting of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce.

Ray McNamara, president of the RHC and Connie Sprauer, the director, told the meeting that the facility would be under construction later this summer.

The building will be of contemporary one-story design, and will be 25,000 square feet in area. The exterior will be finished in red cedar shingles, which will be allowed to weather to a gray exterior color.

The architects for the health center are Payette Associates of Boston. Vance Hosford of that firm described the building as being on an "open-hand" theory, where "form follows function."

At the center of the new building will be the lobby, where people who aren't emergency cases will enter the building. Extending from the lobby will be the different service areas, such as the walk-in unit for emergency cases, or the care unit, composed of doctors' offices and examining rooms, or the diagnostic unit, with labs and x-ray facilities.

One attractive feature planned for the lobby will be windows that extend above the roof line, called a "clear story." The lobby will serve as a common waiting room for all services offered in the building.

The doctors' offices will occupy the outside walls of the care unit, for the most part. Examining rooms and support staff will be common, available to all participating physicians. There will also be a common records system, allowing each doctor to know the total medical picture for each patient.

Doctors for the Regional Health Center will be chosen after careful screening. To date, two doctors have been selected. Both are pediatricians.

The Regional Health Center began more than 10 years ago as the Wilmington Regional Hospital. After a local group attempted to build the facility independently, the organization became a part of Choate Memorial Hospital. Choate is providing the backing for the Regional Health Center.

Amick wins senate election

State Representative Carol Amick is now State Senator Carol Amick.

The Bedford Democrat won her new title and the accompanying position in the Massachusetts Senate in Tuesday's special election. She beat Wilmington's Michael Caira, 7610 to 6384.

Of the nine towns in the district, Caira won five and Amick four. Each carried his or her home town by a margin of more than one thousand votes. But solid and significant victories in Burlington and Lexington carried the contest for Amick. While Caira was carrying Carlisle by a margin of 38 votes, Amick was outdistancing him in Lexington by a margin of 750. Her victory in Burlington was with a gap of more than 300.

The election fills the seat vacated by Sen. Ronald MacKenzie following his conviction on extortion charges earlier this year. MacKenzie had won re-election in the November election while under indictment on the charges.

Wilmington's political summer does not end with this election, though. The seat of the late Rep. Fred F. Cain will be filled in another special election. Five candidates are running for the office, four Democrats and one independent. The primary election in that race will be held on August 2.

Fuel storage approved

The Wilmington Board of Selectmen approved two applications for storage of inflammables. Both licenses were for companies seeking to store gasoline for use in their own vehicles. The licenses were approved with restrictions on the sale of any fuel.

One license was granted to Screenprint, Inc. of Ballardvale Street. Robert Boileau represented the firm, and was accompanied by Ray Fitzmaurice. Fitzmaurice is both an abuttor to the firm and the designer and builder of its new plant.

Dunkirk Express was granted a license for the storage of diesel fuel at their Andover Street place of business, located in the Jackson Brothers garage. Three neighbors were present. Mary Ann Curtis, the closest neighbor, was in the company of her father-in-law, Edward Curtis. They said they would like to see a protective fence between the Curtis home and the storage area. After some discussion, the Selectmen determined that there should be such a fence anyway.

Selectman James Miceli moved approval to the license, subject to the erection of a fence to screen the residential area. The approval was unanimous.

They all walked

Trophies were presented at the Wilmington Selectmen's meeting last week to the people and organizations who were superlative in the Wilmington Community Fund Walkathon held last fall. In front is David MacMullin, the youngest walker. Next to him is Gregg Hooper, who raised the most money as an individual. The two Girl Scouts at right are Lisa Elmstrom and Karen Rowe, of Troop 391, the most effective youth organization. At left, Jannie Wolff, Barbara Oikle, Susan Leahy and Patricia Mottolo represent the Wildwood School, the most effective school. In the rear are Jim MacMullin of the K of C, the most effective adult organization. Next is Aldo Caira, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, and Frank Sferazza, President of the Wilmington Community Fund, and at right rear is Gus MacFeeley, the oldest walker. He was awarded the Wavie Drew trophy.

Angela Caira was too young to vote, so on Fathers' Day she was wearing a tag that read "Vote for My Daddy!"

Licenses turned down

The state Alcoholic Beverages Commission has turned down the liquor licenses of three Wilmington clubs. The Knights of Columbus, the Sons of Italy and the Shriners had all been voted club licenses by the selectmen. The ABC ruled that club licenses do not exist in Wilmington. The applications were remanded to the selectmen for reconsideration.

Fran's the first

When Fran Johnson received her varsity letter at the Wilmington High School Varsity Club banquet last week, it was a first.

Varsity letters for girls are nothing new. Women's sports have become well-established, and the girls receive varsity letters for their participation in those sports.

But Fran's letter was different. She was awarded a letter for her participation on the boys' varsity baseball team. As team manager, she attended all the games, kept the statistics, fetched water, and did other jobs to make the team's season easier.

The top awards at the banquet went to Sheila Burns and Jimmy Stewart, recipients of the Dr. Gerald Fagan awards for the outstanding boy and girl athletes.

The Blue Line Hockey Club award was presented to Tom Gracia. The Kevin Nolan Memorial Trophy went to James Stewart. Matthew Donnelly was the recipient of the Richard Lipski soccer award.

Wildcat teams this year had a large group of Merrimack Valley All Stars. Students selected by the coaches were as follows:

Football: Tom Bavota, Robert Woods, James Stewart, Gordie Fitch and Robert Sferazza and David Rounds; Cross Country: Dana Spring; Field Hockey: Sheila Burns, Tish Hadfield and Lydia Nolan; Soccer: Paul

Trickett and James Logan; Winter Track: Robert Sferazza; Baseball: James Stewart, Richard Medeiros, Robert Woods, Bruce Butters and Steven Woods; Softball: Sheila Burns, Elaine Tshilis and Beth Cote; Spring Track: Steve Winchell; Girls' Basketball: Sheila Burns.

Lawrence Cushing, director of athletics presented three awards for Outstanding Athletic Improvements over their four-years to Sheila Burns, Gordie Fitch and James Stewart.

Special awards were presented to seniors who received letters in three different sports. Recipients were Sheila Burns, Barbara Moulton, Chris Burke, Gordie Fitch, David McMillan, Robert Sferazza, James Stewart and Steve Winchell.

Frank among friends

Frank Kelley was among friends on Saturday night - 250 of them. A testimonial for the Wilmington High School track coach and math teacher, filled the Wilmington Sons of Italy Hall. Among those who returned to Wilmington for the fête was the entire Fairfield family, formerly of Birchwood Road. At left, Kelley exchanges greetings with Jon Fairfield, with Mrs. Winston Fairfield, Sr. at center. At right, Kelley receives a drawing of himself in his well-known pith helmet.

Mr. & Mrs. David Moore

Carlene Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Peterson of Vernon St., Wakefield became the bride of David T. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack P. Moore of Westdale Ave., Wilmington on May 21. The Rev. Everett Reed performed the 6 p.m. ceremony before the altar of Wilmington's First Baptist Church.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Andover Country Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a sheer, polyester gown trimmed with lace and featuring an empire waistline, chapel train and bishop sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap trimmed with Viennese lace and she carried a Colonial bouquet of stephanotis, gypsophylla and Sonja Hamlin roses. Mrs. Charles Saytanides of Philadelphia, Pa. served as matron of honor in a gown of sea green polyester knit featuring a shirred bodice and bolero jacket with cape sleeves. She carried a bouquet of Sonja Hamlin roses, sprinkled with seagreen and white daisies and carnations. Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth Peterson of Tewksbury, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Gary Gonsalves of Billerica, sister of the groom; Mrs. John Fallica and Mrs. William Curran, both of Wakefield.

Attendants gowns were styled identical to that of the matron of honor in apricot. They also carried bouquets of Sonja Hamlin roses dotted with white daisies and carnations.

Robert Collier of Medford acted as best man while ushering duties were in charge of Kenneth Peterson of Tewksbury; James Wilkins of Revere; Jeffrey Miller of Wilmington and Donald Hodgkins of Melrose.

The groom's nephew, Gary Gonsalves, Jr. of Billerica served as ring bearer and Kristen and Kerry Johnson, of Lexington, cousins of the bride were flower girls.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Peterson chose a full length aqua gown featuring an empire waistline and V neck with tieback bishop sleeves. She wore silver accessories.

Sam Frolio

Sam Frolio, former Wilmington teacher, died in Connecticut last week. Sam, son of an Italian immigrant, was a Tufts graduate who taught in what is now the Swain School over 50 years ago, when it was WHS. He had a sonorous voice, and among other things was in command of the High School Cadet Corps.

In those days the state had a bunch of breech loading single shot rifles. They dated back to 1876, and were loaned out for drill purposes. Where these rifles went is a slight mystery - for today they would be worth their weight in gold. The Wilmington public schools acquired 24 rifles, and Sam was the Commandant of Cadets - only there was no such title.

Twice a week a column of 24 high school boys would march out and around Wilmington Common, with Sam keeping the cadance. Maybe once in a while they were in step - but it was good fun.

Sam also taught mathematics, and biology, and there-in lies the germ of a tale.

What the acid involved was really escapes memory. There was a day when Sam was explaining something, to a biology class, and one of the beakers containing acid exploded. The result was a mild disaster.

Boys in those days wore cotton stockings and knickers. Girls had cotton dresses.

The liquid in the beaker destroyed such things as cotton.

After that beaker exploded there were boys whose stockings were in tatters, and there were girls who could say the same thing about their dresses.

Fortunately there was only about five persons in that class. Sam took a lot of kidding, about that explosion.

A wine and cheese party to be remembered

There was a nice little party last Thursday, on the top of Castle Hill, in Tewksbury. The old Ames mansion, built after the Civil War, is home to some senior citizens, and the party was a little celebration.

John Moulaison was visiting his sister Louise Potier. He is 104, and lives at the Sunny Acres Nursing Home in Chelmsford. She is 95 and stays at the Castle.

Both were born in a French village near Eelbrook, Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. It was a place where people spoke French in the morning and English in the afternoon.

Both had lived many years in the United States, and had last seen each other two years ago.

Mrs. Potier had lived for many years in Andover, and had been a Tewksbury resident, living on Charm Road, for a period of years.

John Moulaison had been a fisherman, working out of Gloucester, and out of Boston. There were about 20 guests for the wine and cheese party.

One of the guests was Louise Thomas, formerly of Morse Avenue, Wilmington. Louise was active in Wilmington VFW before she retired to the Castle Nursing Home, because of cataracts. She, too, enjoyed the party.

Alert and bright-eyed

John Moulaison visits his sister Louise Potier, at the Castle Nursing Home in Tewksbury. He is 104 and she is 95.

Little League Scoreboard

Senior Division American League
Sunday, June 12....Dan Munroe fired the win as he held off a Dodger rally to give his Twins a 6-5 edge. Scott Scibilia took the loss for the Dodgers.

Monday June 13....The Pirates topped the Giants in a 10-8 slugfest. Joe Lynch was the winning pitcher while Mark Riddle took the loss.

Tuesday, June 14....The Red Legs nipped the A's 2-1 as ace Steve Marsh pitched a no-hitter while striking out 19. Steve Merrick was no slouch either as he chucked a three hitter and struck out 10. The Red Legs came up with their first run in the second inning when Robbie Richmond walked, stole second, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on a ground out.

Bob Dascoli scored the winner in the eighth frame as he struck out and reached first on the catcher's passed ball and overthrew into right field.

Dascoli then advanced to second, stole third, and scored when an errant pickoff throw sailed into the A's dugout.

Wednesday, June 15....The Giants bombed the Twins 10-3 to even their record at 2-2.

Thursday, June 16....The A's crushed Dodgers 10-3 behind the pitching of Ron Wallace and the long ball hitting of Steve Marsh. Wallace went the distance to pick up the win while the hot hitting Marsh whacked a two run homer. Norm Christian was the losing pitcher for the Dodgers.

Friday, June 17....Steve Bucknam got the win as the Red Legs got by the Pirates 7-5. Tim Stronach had two hits for the winners while Derek Vachon chipped in with one safety.

Junk Man, errors end WHS season

Seven Wilmington High errors and junkballing Drury leftfielder Jerry Sprague brought the 1977 Wildcat baseball season to a close last Thursday afternoon at Sot Park in Chicopee as the Wildcats fell 5-2 in the semifinal round of the Division Two State Baseball Tournament.

Four unearned runs and the Wildcats' inability to fathom Sprague's curves, change ups, and eephus balls when it counted spelled the end. Wilmington managed to get 10 hits against the crafty Drury ace, but they couldn't keep surges going in the sixth and seventh innings when it appeared that they had high school's Bill Lee on the ropes.

In the sixth Bob Woods and Bruce Butters (a super tourney) led with singles, but Sprague retired Rich Medeiros, Tom Stewart, and Art Sugrue on groundballs to end the threat. In the seventh inning the same frustrating pattern developed when Randy Foster and Steve Woods led off with singles before Bob Woods rang a two out double to right centerfield for the second Wildcat run. Before the Woods shot Sprague had set down Bill Blaisdell on a fly to center and fanned Jim Stewart.

With runners on second and third and the tying run at the plate in the form of Butters - Sprague went into the low outside curve act before Bruce finally lined out to shortstop Tom LeSage.

The Wildcats scored their other run in the first inning when it looked like Sprague would be blown away by the big WHS sticks. Steve Woods led off the game with a single and Blaisdell rifled one down into the leftfield corner to make it 1-0. Jim Stewart and Bob Woods fanned before shortstop LeSage made the play of the game as he robbed Butters of a baseshit by ranging far to his left and firing to first to end the inning. But those four unearned runs signaled the end of the WHS season.

John Milano's wildness and a throwing error by a stiff armed Jim Stewart accounted for three unearned Drury runs in the fourth inning. With two out Milano walked Dave Moreau and Mike Galli. LeSage followed with a bloop single to centerfield that sent Moreau home to tie the score at 1-1. Pesky little Drury second baseman Charlie Demers beat out a bunt down the thirdbase line and two runs scored when first baseman J. Stewart threw wide of the plate after fielding Medeiros' high throw. Galli and LeSage sprinted home to make it 3-1. All this madness can be attributed to the hustling Demers who made things happen all afternoon for the underdog Drury team.

The Wildcats looked like they might come apart at the seams in the fifth inning as they committed three errors to run up the total to six miscues through five frames.

The three top Drury hitters all reached to start the fifth against WHS starter John Milano. Steve Pennock singled. Sprague bunted past Milano before Dave Gigliotti followed with a walk to load the bases. WHS erased the lead man on a strange play that had catcher Bob Woods firing to first in an attempt to pick off a wandering Gigliotti. Second baseman Steve Woods snuck in behind Gigliotti to take the throw but in his hurry to nab Pennock off third base

Sorry Art-the greetings go to the winners

Wilmington High rightfielder Art Sugrue heads for the team bus after the final out - seemingly unaware that a happy Drury fan is sprinting to give a hug and a kiss to a winner.

Drury players are out to congratulate winning pitcher Jerry Sprague in the background.

Drury rundown

Thirdbaseman Randy Foster puts the tag on Drury's Charlie Demers after he was caught between third and home when teammate Glenn Boyer missed a squeeze bunt attempt. Backing up the play in Wilmington catcher Bob Woods, who threw to Foster to nail Demers.

The Gillis gripe

Wilmington High baseball coach Jim Gillis disagrees with the umpire during late inning action at Chicopee last Thursday. Gillis was disturbed about the balls and strikes calls along with the umpires decision to restrict the Wildcats bench jockeying. WHS catcher Bob Woods and Drury's Mike Galli wait for Gillis to register his complaint.

he bounced the ball into short leftfield. Leftfielder Bruce Butters made a nice recovery behind third to throw Pennock out at the plate. After Milano walked Dave Chenail to load the bases Foster came in to relieve and promptly threw the ball into centerfield on a pickoff play that had been called off by catcher Woods. The fourth unearned Drury run scored to up the margin to 4-1 before Randy settled down to record a strikeout and a one hop fielder's choice grounder to shortstop Blaisdell.

The final Drury run was earned but tainted to say the least. Pennock ripped a shot into the rightfield corner to start the seventh inning and rounded the bases when the ball rolled under a cart and out of the reach of WHS rightfielder Sugrue.

Not only was the ball under the cart, but it had rolled on to the pavement on the far side of Sot Park - supposedly signaling a double according to the park's groundrules. Pennock had his homerun. Drury had a 5-2 edge and had the ballgame all but wrapped up.

Sprague finished with a flourish as he retired the side in order in the ninth - getting Steve Woods and Blaisdell before WHS leader Jim Stewart grounded to short to end the season for coach Jim Gillis' champs.

Wildcat tales: In the second inning the Wildcats drew a pair of warnings from the home plate umpire about their bench jockeying. He told Wilmington to cheer for their teammates and not ride the opposing players - especially pitcher Sprague who seemed upset in the first inning when the Wildcats had him on the ropes. The umpire warned the WHS bench about their "unsportsmanlike" conduct. The initial warning came after back-up catcher Todd Richards had remarked on the physique of Mike Galli - wondering if the bat was bigger than the slender Drury rightfielder.

Coach Gillis objected to the decision - as his team has used the bench-razz to good effect this spring. Reserve Barry Phillips commented "that's how we win half our games" (with the razz). A valuable Wildcat weapon may have been taken away last Thursday. A typical Wildcat comment by Gillis as the end was near - "we're not out of anything - we'll take right here. (In the eighth inning.) And didn't you have the feeling that they'd get to that kid Sprague sooner or later? Final word the umpires didn't cost Wilmington this ball game. The home plate umpire hit the old nail when he said at the conclusion. "I didn't make seven errors." It's a pity we can't keep an accurate scorecard on the umpires. - Cooke

Baseball

Wed. June 15: A make-shift Recs nine lost to Dracut, 6-4 in their belated seasonal opener. Dave Sousa (6-1) pitched well, but was victimized by shoddy fielding.

Coach Scanlon's club produced three booming triples by Bill Liston, Andy LaFave and Paul Bush, while Rich Scanlon doubled and singled to hit the Wilmington attack.

Sat., June 18: A flat Wilmington Recs team lost the opener of a twin bill at Chelmsford, 6-1. Randy Foster (0-1) started for the locals and hurled shutout ball for five innings. Obviously tiring in the sixth, Randy was touched for three runs on three hits and a walk. Chelmsford went on to serve three "more runs" on relief hurler Dave Sousa to put the scoreless game out of sight. The Recs' lone tally came in the seventh frame on Sousa's double and Rich Scanlon's single to left.

The boys continued to play lethargic baseball in the night cap. Fine pitching by Bob Woods (1-0) kept the Recs in the game until they erupted for five runs in the top of the seventh to erase a 3-1 Chelmsford lead. Walks to Don McLaughlin and Todd Richards opened the final inning. Steve Woods plated Rich Scanlon who was running for McLaughlin. Art Sugrue reached on an error. Bob Woods then drove in a pair of runs with a single up the middle. Randy Foster singled in two more runs to end the scoring.
